INDEX

TO THE TWELFTH VOLUME

OF THE

Weekly Entertainer.

A.

ALOES, account of the cultivation and preparation of, in Barbadoes, by L. Millington, Eſq. 37.

Anagrams, 93, 237, 260, 405, 429, 529. Anſwers to, 68, 404, 572, 613.

Anecdote, an election, of Sir Robert Walpole, 91. of ſelling ale by the pound, 110. of a clergyman, 111. of Selby, the organiſt, 159. of a taylor's apprentice, 205. of the tythe pig, 235. of Prince George of Denmark's viſit to Briſtol, 246. of a man who was broke upon the wheel, 273. of a poor curate and Lord ——, 283. of the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Queenſbury, 307. of a magnanimous French peaſant, ibid. of King George III. 331, 589. of a gentleman who thought he had diſcovered the philoſopher's ſtone, 421. of the effects of debauchery, 445. of Whang-to, Emperor of China, 469. of Mr. Sterne, 470. of a military gentleman and his ſon, 493. of Lord Mansfield, 532, 590. of Colonel Cockburn, 535. of the Earl of Saliſbury, 589. of Lord Chief Juſtice Willes, 590. of the late Charles Churchill, 613.

Anecdotes of Ligonier's regiment, 28. of the late Count Buffon, 41. of Frederick the Great, King of Pruſſia, 208. of Peter the Great, 470, 592.

Animals, on humanity to, 538.

Antonio, the ſtory of, 274.

Aurora Borealis, obſervations on the, by the Rev. Jeremy Belknap, 66.

B.

Bank notes, curious calculation relative to the weight of a large number of, 468.

Barrington, George, his ſpeech delivered at the Old Bailey, Sept. 18, 1788, together with the anſwer of James Adair, Eſq; the Recorder of London, 320.

Baſhful man, the diſtreſſes of a, 145.

Biography, of, 97.

Birmingham and its environs, a deſcription of, by Captain Northcote, 208.

Bon mot, 422.

Boruwlaſki, Joſeph, the celebrated dwarf, memoirs of, written by himſelf, 210.

British navy, the substance of a pamphlet lately published, by an officer, entitled, A short Account of the Naval Actions of the last War, tending to prove its decided superiority, 497, 532.
Bullying language, on the use of, by counsellors, 294.

C.

Calumny, the history of a, relative to Dr. Priestley, with some remarks on it, by the Rev. Mr. Toulmin, 177.
Canals, on, 445.
Cape of Good Hope, curious description of M. Vaillant's journey from thence into the inland parts of Cafraria, 40.
Charades, 21, 45, 93, 189, 285, 332, 381, 405, 453, 477, 500, 549, 573, 597, 620. Answers to, 20, 68, 93, 141, 236, 284, 308, 332, 379, 427, 452, 476, 621.
Charity, on, by the late Dr. Samuel Johnson, 57.
Cherbourg, account of the works undertaken by the French there, for the formation of a harbour opposite to Portsmouth, 394.
Chester, important and interesting state of facts relative to, and all other corporations in the kingdom, 613.
Christian names, remarks on, 397.
Clyde, in Scotland, interesting picture on the banks of the 55.
Comet of 1788 or 1789, account of the, 328.
Cook, Captain, abstract of Dr. Kippis's life of him, 565, 577.
Courts of justice in England, an history of, by Mr. Reeves, 170.
County elections, abstract of the act passed in 1788 for the better securing the rights of voters at, 409, 433.
Criticisms, observations on the advantages to be derived from the study of, 88.

D.

Distrust, on, 306.

E.

Edward and Maria, an affecting tale, 607.
English language, on the corruption of it, particularly by the ladies, 158. reply to, by Caroline W. M. 257.
Enigmas, 45, 69, 117, 165, 189, 213, 237, 285, 309, 333, 356, 381, 429, 453, 477, 501, 549, 573, 597, 613, 621. Answers to, 116, 164, 188, 236, 284, 428, 452, 476, 500, 596, 620.
Esquire, on the nature and origin of the title of, 325.
Eugenius, a character in real life, 49, 140.

F.

Fact, an affecting, 448.
Farms, on the bad policy and effects of consolidating them, by Mr. B. Pryce, of Salisbury, 64.
Fashionable amusements, on the absurdity of indulging in them to excess, 281.
Fashion, some cursory thoughts on, 285.
Flannel waistcoats, on the advantage of wearing them, 325.
French history, cursory view of the, from the reign of Philip le Bel to the close of that of Lewis XIV. 148.
Frend, the Rev. Mr. his resignation, stated by himself, 12.
Friendship, on forming precipitate, 133.
Friendship, the triumph of, 247.

G.

Gainsborough, Mr. the celebrated painter, memoirs of, 193.
Game laws, some remarks on the, 176.
German liberty, a definition of, by B. H. Latrobe, 329.
Golden Rod, sovereign virtues of the decoction of the, by Mr. Elstob, 13.
Greek church in the east, curious account of a proposal made about seventy years ago, for an union between tween the Nonjurors in Great Britain and that church, 609.

H.

Hiſtorical curioſity, an, 292.
Hiſtory, reflections on the various ways in which it exhibits the conduct of divine providence, 103.
Honey, remarkable inſtances of the good effects of it in aſthmatic caſes, related by Dr. Moore, 67.

I.

Inſtinct, new and curious reflections on, 296. Anſwer to, 449.

J.

Jealous Huſband cured, the, 125.

K.

Kingſton, memoirs of the late Dutcheſs of, 389, 414, 436, 463, 484.
Kintair and Seaton, or the unfortunate ſiſters, 73.
Kippis, Dr. A. extracts from his ſermon preached before the ſociety for commemorating the glorious revolution, on Nov. 4, 1788, being the completion of an hundred years ſince that great event, 529.
Knowledge, learning, and taſte, in Great-Britain, during the reign of Henry VIII. from 1509 to 1547, hiſtory of, 545, 557, 584, 601.

L.

Ladies, dialogue on their dreſs, and on the importance to them of intellectual acquiſition, 111. on ſeveral literary females, and on female talents, 121. on the different repreſentations that have been given of the female character, and other incidental ſubjects, 227.
Latin lines, tranſlation of two, by J. Quant, 44.
Longevity, a remarkable inſtance of, 447.
Lukins, George, of Yatton, in Somerſetſhire, account of his ſingular caſe, by ſome perſons ſuppoſed to be poſſeſſed by evil ſpirits, and alſo a letter, endeavouring to prove him an impoſtor, who is deſirous of profiting by the credulity of others, 3. obſervations on his caſe, 187.

M.

Mad dogs, caſes of the bites of, related by Mr. Jeſſe Foot, 131. a method of curing, as practiſed by Dr. Dupont, phyſician to the government of Martinico, 234.
Manchester and Liverpool deſcribed, 270.
Mansfield, Earl, complimentary letter from the counſel of the King's Bench bar to him, occaſioned by his reſignation, together with his Lordſhip's anſwer, 18.
Marriage ſtate, on the, 66.
Mary Queen of Scots, vindication of her character by the Rev. Mr. Whitaker, rector of Ruan Lanyhorne, 25.
Milton's Lycidas, illuſtration of a difficult paſſage therein, together with ſome account of St. Michael's Mount, and the Land's End, in Cornwall, places alluded to in the above paſſage, 160.
Montague, Hon. Edward Wortley, account of his journey from Cairo, in Egypt, to the Written Mountains in the Deſart of Sinai, 289.

N.

Narrative, a melancholy, which ſtrongly diſplays the folly of avarice, and the cruel circumſtances to which it may give occaſion, 15.
National affairs, 31, 136, 254, 369, 460, 533.
Negro ſlave, in Maryland, account of the extraordinary powers of calculation poſſeſſed by one, by Dr. Ruſh, of Philadelphia, 591.

O.

Okano, the hiſtory of, being the fragment of a voyage to St. Domingo, 541, 561.
Olivia, or the deſerted bride, 198.
Ormah, an oriental tale, 217.
Orthography, curious ſpecimens of, 140, 163, 448, 500, 619.

Pandolphi,

P.

Pandolphi, particulars relative to the unfortunate, for whoſe murder Walter Read was hanged and quartered, July 26, 1788, in Ireland, 169.
Parents, advice to, 398.
Pelew Iſlands, Mr. Keate's account of them abridged, 313, 337, 361.
Peter the Great, epitaph on, by C. Wyvil, Eſq. 591.
Popularity, thoughts on, 378.
Portugal, ſome account of the preſent ſtate of, 35.
Pride, a ſoft bruſh for, 111.
Prince Royal of Denmark, his character, 109.
Printers, bookſellers, and ſtationers, their proceſſion on the ratification of the new conſtitution of the United States of America, 300.
Pulteney Bridge, Bath, deſcription of, 305.

Q.

Queries, 20, 69, 620. Anſwer to, 427.
Queſtions, 21, 93, 117, 141, 189, 236, 260, 284, 332, 380, 405, 453, 500, 548, 572, 596. Anſwers to, 44, 68, 116, 140, 164, 212, 235, 260, 308, 355, 427, 476, 548, 571, 595.

R.

Rebuſſes, 21, 164, 260, 261, 405, 501, 596. Anſwers to, 20, 44, 92, 116, 164, 260, 309, 380, 452.
Reflections, 14, 91.
Regencies, hiſtory of, 491.
Robertſon, Mr. George, an ingenious painter, ſome account of, 494.
Rienzi, hiſtory of Nicholas de, 221, 246, 265.

S.

Seduction, on, 473.
Slave trade, arguments and facts againſt the, 59, 80, 99. E. B's reply to, 352, 375. Reply to E. B. 422, 457, 481, 536, 569.
Sportſmen, a leſſon to, 469.
Stirling, in Scotland, account of, 39.

T.

Tanacro and Druſilla, the ſtory of, 343.
Taylor, memoirs of Sir Robert, 348.
Tea, on the ſalubrity of, by the Rev. J. Morgan, of Egloſkerry, Cornwall, 302.
Teſt act, ſpeeches on a, by the Rev. Mr. Shute and the Rev. Mr. Payſon, delivered in the American Convention, aſſembled for the purpoſe of ratifying the new American conſtitution, 232.
Theodore, King of Corſica, epitaph on him, written by the Hon. Horace Walpole, and erected at his expence in St. Ann's church-yard, Soho, Weſtminſter, 468.
Thickneſſe, Philip, Eſq. late Lieutenant-Governor of Languard Fort, memoirs and anecdotes of, 84.
Trials, intereſting, 1, 53, 135, 304, 419.

V.

Verſes. Lines written by Mrs. Creſpigni, and placed at the entrance of her grotto, which is dedicated to contemplation, within view of the metropolis, 22. extracts from "Humanity, or the Rights of Nature," a poem, in two books, by Mr. Pratt, the author of "Sympathy," 23, 46, 70. written by Dean Hoadley, on ſeeing a ſpring near a friend's houſe in Hampſhire, which ſupplies all the neighbourhood with water, 24. epigram on a grocer, ibid. epitaph on a favourite horſe, 48. a ſong, by the Earl of Carliſle, 72. Apollo's decree, 94. an addreſs, delivered by the author, on an annual meeting of printers, to celebrate their art, by J. Day, of Lincoln's-inn-fields, 95. bagatelle, 96. on ſeeing a ſkull, 118. epitaph on Richard III. buried at Leiceſter, by the order and at the expence of King Henry VII. 120. elegiac ſonnet, written by an anchoret, ibid. ode in a thunder-ſtorm, written at midnight, midnight, and addreſſed to a lady, 142. a reflection, addreſſed to all who think, 143. an epitaph to the memory of Mr. Hugh Kelly, by Captain Thompſon, 144. the quinteſſence of Johnſon's letters to Mrs. Piozzi, 166. a night ſcene, 168. epitaph on Mr. Crofts, a ſtaymaker, ibid. the autumn, 190. verſes made at ſea in a heavy gale, 191. verſes addreſſed to Miſs Mary M——t, a beautiful little girl of four years old, ſitting in her baby-houſe, ſurrounded by her play-things, 192. on ſelf-knowledge, 214. on ſolitude, 216. lines on Mr. Erſkine, by Medicus, of Dorcheſter, ibid. on Mr. Gainſborough, by E X, 238. on darkneſs, ibid. an hymn on Sunday ſchools, by William Hayley, Eſq. 240. epitaph on a man whoſe name was Duſt, ibid. a poetical deſcription of pity, with a compliment to Jonas Hanway, Eſq. by John Newell Puddicombe, A. M. 262. matrimonial deafneſs, 263. on ſcience, 264. an addreſs to the ladies, 286. an invocation to the naiad of Bourton, addreſſed to Thomas Ingram, Eſq. by Cauſidicus, of Cirenceſter, 288. the evening primroſe, by Dr. Langhorne, 310. lines written extempore on the Rev. Mr. Gryll's inimitable ſermons, 312. lines written on the death of a friend, by the late Reverend Thomas Ruſſel, Fellow of New College, Oxford, ibid. ſtanzas addreſſed to Mrs. Scraſton, of Briſtol, on the death of an amiable daughter, by Lactilla, of Cliſton, 334. verſes written near the ruins of a nunnery, by the Rev. John Whitehouſe, 335. epitaph on John Clark, one of the Fellows of Wincheſter College, who died in 1541, 336. monody on the death of Mr. Woodmaſon's ſeven children, who were burnt to death on the 18th of January, 1782, in the abſence of their father, by Mr. Harriſon, 357. traits of the characters of the ſovereigns of England from William the Conqueror, 382. character of Sir Nicholas Oddiſh, by Mr. Hayley, 384. love ſpringing from friendſhip, by Adoleſcens, 406. a comedian's addreſs to the inhabitants, on leaving a town, by Adoleſcens, 407. a ſonnet, tranſlated from the Italian of Ceſare Loredano, 408. lines written on the death of Miſs Holdſworth, 430. by the ſame, addreſſed to her father, ibid. epitaph on Lady Philipps, of Norbiton Place, near Kingſton upon Thames, who lately died, aged 87, 431. ſonnet to equanimity, by W. H. Reed, 482. on the late harveſt. by Adoleſcens, ibid. to Mr. *, with ſome verſes of the author's, by William Holloway, author of the Halſewell, a poem, 454. the negroe's complaint, by W. H. ibid. occaſional prologue for Exmouth theatre, by Mrs. Piozzi, 456. on modeſty, ibid. ode in commemoration of the glorious Revolution, by W. Maſon, M. A. 478. epigram occaſioned by reading Sir John Hawkins's Life of Dr. Samuel Johnſon, 480. evening, a ſonnet, by Amicus, of Shaſton, 502. extempore, on Mr. James Harris, and Lady Morgan, the celebrated fairy, by a gentleman of Trinity College, on his firſt ſeeing them, 502. the laurel and the reed, by Dr. Langhorne, 503. epigram on Iriſh bulls, 504. elegy written among the ruins of a Daniſh camp, known by the name of Danes Caſtle, ſituate north of Rougemont Caſtle, Exeter, by Mr. Hart, 550. ſonnet, to a river overflowing, by W. Hamilton Reid, 552. a legal epigram, ibid. tranſlation from Anacreon, made by the ingenious Peter Pindar, Eſq; and ſent, with the additional ſtanza, to a lady, 574. ſong to Delia, by the ſame, ibid. ode to modeſty, 575. ode to happineſs, by an Iriſh lady, 576.

a picture

a picture of the faſhionable profligate, 598. ſonnet prefixed to a ſmall volume of the author's poems, by Avon, 599. to the ghoſt of Dr. Johnſon, by ditto, 600. ſonnet from Marino, ibid. ſonnet to the red-breaſt, by Amicus, of Shafteſbury, 622. on winter, by C. C. near Taunton, 624. lines ſent to the preſident of the ſociety of univerſal good will, ibid.

W.

William III. account of his landing at Torbay, in 1688, and of his entry into Exeter, 441.
Wool bill, abſtract of the, 152, 182, 206.